

Master's Degree in Neuropsychology

www.masterneuropsicologia.udl.cat/en/

Credits: 60 ECTS Teaching model: Blended

This Master in Neuropsychology provides advanced training for understanding the relationships between the brain and human behavior. This is a professional specialization for the evaluation, diagnosis, and rehabilitation of behavior linked to pathological functioning of the central nervous system during the whole life span. This master's degree includes external academic internships.

STUDENT PROFILE

- Degree in Psychology, Medicine, Biomedicine, Neurosciences, or analogue degrees to the EEES or similar contexts.
- Other degrees in health sciences (Nursing, Physiotherapy, ...), or Biology, Pedagogy, Speech Therapy, can also be considered.
- Professionals within health fields.
- Open to Spanish and international students.

SELECTION CRITERIA AND ACCEPTANCE

- Academic transcript (40%).
- Specific professional training in health disciplines (20%).
- Occupational experience in health disciplines (20%).
- Foreign languages (10%).
- Publications, teaching experience (10%).

CAREER PROSPECTS

Public and private institutions delivering services in neurology, psychiatry, forensics, nursing homes, education, etc.

